Set within the popular Hunters Wood development on the outskirts of Great Torrington, this 1990s semi-detached home offers a wonderful opportunity to enjoy a comfortable and practical lifestyle, with bright and well-connected living accommodation, two bedrooms and an enclosed rear garden. Raised slightly above the communal parking area, the property enjoys an attractive position with a colourful front garden providing an inviting first impression.

Stepping through the front door, you are immediately welcomed into the main living space, where the semi-open-plan design creates a lovely sense of connection between the different areas of the home. The living room flows naturally through towards the dining area at the rear, making this a particularly sociable space for everyday life. Whether relaxing in the evening, entertaining friends or simply enjoying the natural light throughout the day, the layout provides flexibility while still allowing each area to retain its own purpose. Windows to both the front and rear, together with the double garden doors, allow an abundance of natural light to travel through the accommodation, creating a bright and welcoming environment.

The dining area provides a natural transition between the living room and kitchen, with plenty of room for a dining table and chairs. From here, the rear double doors open directly onto the garden, making it easy to step outside for morning coffee, summer lunches or to simply enjoy the fresh air. The kitchen sits just off the dining area and is fitted in a practical 'L'-shaped arrangement, providing a good amount of worktop and storage space, together with designated space for a fridge/freezer and washing machine. Its position works particularly well for modern living, keeping the kitchen connected to the main living accommodation while allowing the dining area to act as the central hub of the ground floor.

Upstairs, the bright and airy feel continues. The principal bedroom benefits from dual windows, ensuring plenty of natural light while also providing an outlook across the rooftops towards the surrounding countryside. It is a peaceful space in which to start and finish the day, with the elevated position offering glimpses of the Devon landscape beyond. Bedroom two is positioned to the rear and overlooks the garden, creating a pleasant and private outlook.

The family bathroom completes the first floor and comprises a pedestal wash hand basin, WC and bath with shower over, providing a practical space for both everyday use and relaxing at the end of the day.

Outside, the enclosed rear garden provides a lovely extension of the living accommodation. A small patio immediately outside the house offers an ideal spot for outdoor seating or dining, while steps lead upwards to the lawned garden beyond. With its elevated position, the garden is a wonderful place to sit and enjoy the afternoon and evening sunshine, whether tending to the garden, entertaining or simply relaxing at the end of the day. There is also useful side access to the garden, although it should be noted that the neighbouring property has a right of way to access the side garden gate.

With its bright accommodation, sociable semi-open-plan layout, two bedrooms and enjoyable outdoor space, this Hunters Wood home offers an appealing combination of practicality and lifestyle, whilst being ideally positioned for access to the amenities and countryside surrounding Great Torrington.
