A myriad of possibilities present themselves within this fantastic opportunity. Whether you are looking for somewhere to live with further income potential, a buy to let investment, the ability to have multi-generational living without being on top of each other or even the possibility of running a small business, the options are limit less.

Situated on a plot approaching half an acre is the main building, a large two bedroom detached bungalow with the potential to make a third bedroom in the attic space (already partly completed). You would just need to add a permanent staircase and seek building regulation approval. A bright, airy and contemporary home, it provides well-proportioned living accommodation and a fantastic sized garden. The master bedroom boasts a walk in wardrobe/dressing room and an ensuite shower room but the real show stopper in the fantastic open plan living space (in excess of 32' in length) that looks out over the garden through French doors. At the bottom of the site there is an additional two bedroom detached bungalow with conservatory, ideal for multi-generational living or as an income provider (this particular dwelling can currently be used as a holiday let but the current owner is currently going through the process of changing it to full residential use). Across from there are a selection of outbuildings, garaging and workshops, somewhere with huge potential to run a business from, tinker with cars or simply use as storage. There is a large hard standing area upon entering the site, ideal for parking several vehicles for those living there and visiting.

All in all there is a lot to take in here, more really that can be described. If it is tickling your fancy on paper it just gets so much better when there in person so why not come and take a look?
