Family. Given just one word to describe this four bedroom semi-detached home, it would be that. There are many reasons for this, and the location so close to both the Primary and secondary schools and it being a short walk from town are just the first. What really makes this a family home is the longevity of family that it will support far beyond school years - let me explain. The large ensuite bedroom on the ground floor transforms the dynamic and invites either a haven for grown teenagers, a comfortable and practical retreat for a dependant member of the family - be they mature or disabled (as the doorways and facilities cater for wheelchair users) or, thinking ahead, mum and dad can avoid a move later to a bungalow as the home can be used on one floor. It is connected living, but with privacy. If even more independent space is required, the garage could be utilised to completely isolate it and create annex or income (subject to the usual consents). Like most of the home, the ensuite shower room has been modernised and had under-floor heating added for more comfort and offers a stylish finish.

Other more obvious reasons include the large and practical driveway. It will service the whole families cars, whatever diversity is occupying it at the time. The Kitchen/diner is a great family space with an attractive and timeless Hardwood, fully fitted kitchen with all the appliances built in and room for the table to extend and seat everyone. The sitting room is largely square and can be configured however one sees fit as well it having direct access to the garden. The enclosed porch and entrance hall complete the ground floor.

On the first floor are three bedrooms and another bathroom, two of which are double bedrooms with the main bedroom having built-in wardrobes, and a third, smaller bedroom. This room has the single bed built in over the bulk-head of the stairwell to add additional floor space. The bathroom has also been modernised and retains the bath (again catering for all needs) with a shower over. This again is stylish and very well finished.

Outside, the rear garden is enclosed, balanced and offers a good deal of privacy. A large patio extends from the home and meets the lawn, which stretches behind the ground floor bedroom – (which in turn provides a covered area for some storage of garden furniture) and the whole is level and enclosed by tall hedging and fencing.

The boiler has been replaced in recent years and the home has been evidently maintained to a very high standard throughout. There is nothing to have to do. In summary, one gets the benefits of a much more modern home, but in a more mature setting with enough room for the whole family, young and old.
