Rich in local character and history, this charming detached home dates back to the 1790s and forms part of Camelford's established residential landscape.

Built during a period when quality craftsmanship and practical design were prioritised, the property has since been thoughtfully updated to provide bright, contemporary living while retaining the solid proportions and charm of its era.

Situated in the heart of the Cornish town of Camelford, the home enjoys a peaceful yet highly convenient setting, close to local amenities and the surrounding North Cornwall countryside.

Upon entering the property, you are welcomed into a spacious open-plan living and dining area, beautifully illuminated by generous windows that allow natural light to flood the space. This versatile reception room provides ample space for both relaxation and entertaining, and also incorporates the staircase leading to the first floor, creating a seamless and well-designed layout.

From here, the property flows through to a modern, well-appointed kitchen, which benefits from double doors opening directly onto the patio, offering an effortless indoor-outdoor connection ideal for entertaining or alfresco dining. The kitchen is equipped with a range of built-in appliances, including a hob, dishwasher, washing machine and fridge, combining practicality with sleek contemporary styling.

The first floor comprises two well-proportioned bedrooms and a family bathroom. The generous double bedroom features a useful built-in storage nook, while the second bedroom is a comfortable single, perfectly suited as a child's bedroom, home office or guest room. Both bedrooms enjoy large front-facing windows, providing pleasant outlooks and excellent levels of natural light. The family bathroom is well sized and fitted with a modern walk-in shower.

Externally, the property continues to impress. To the front is an enclosed patio area, ideal for outdoor seating or dining, with direct access from the kitchen. In addition, there is a large gravelled parking area providing off-road parking for two vehicles, a rare and valuable feature within this location.

Offered with no onward chain, and with all contents negotiable, this attractive home presents an excellent opportunity for first-time buyers, downsizers or investors seeking a stylish, low-maintenance property in the heart of North Cornwall.

Changing Lifestyles

Camelford is a small market town and civil parish in north Cornwall, England, set in the picturesque valley of the River Camel on the north-western edge of Bodmin Moor. The town lies about ten miles (16 km) northwest of Bodmin and roughly six miles from Cornwall's rugged north coast, making it a gateway between countryside and coast.

Positioned along the busy A39 "Atlantic Highway," Camelford has long been a crossroads for travel and trade. The River Camel flows through the town, winding from its moorland source towards the sea, and the surrounding landscape features rolling farmland and moorland hills, with Roughtor and Brown Willy of Bodmin Moor visible from higher points.

With a historic core of slate-hung houses and landmarks such as the neoclassical Town Hall (built in 1806), Camelford blends rural charm with traces of its medieval past. Its location makes it an excellent base for exploring north Cornwall's beaches, walking trails, and ancient sites, while also connecting inland to the moors and countryside.
