SUMMARY

A delightful, traditional Ulster farmhouse with a range of outbuildings and lands extending to circa 8.9 acres.

The residence is positioned on a slightly elevated position and enjoys far reaching views over the countryside towards Slieve Croob, Dromara Hills and the Mourne Mountains.

The property is situated almost equal distance between Saintfield and Carryduff, enjoying easy access to Belfast and Lisburn, with good public transport close by serving the local schools and many of the top schools in South Belfast.

The property has been renovated and updated in recent years, is fitted with oil fired central heating, double glazing, Fibrus broadband and includes a spacious living/dining/kitchen, dining hall, laundry room, five bedrooms, shower room and bathroom. The accommodation is versatile and provides an opportunity to create a small apartment if desired.

The compact range of outbuildings were previously used to house livestock and are serviceable for that purpose or for those with equestrian interests.
